

Toolkit for Greener Practices: Learn More About the Initiative
Acknowledgments

Without the varied talents of the people contributing to this project, the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) project staff would have been unable to develop these guidelines from the necessary interdisciplinary viewpoint. Each of the people listed below volunteered their time and energy with very few guarantees from the MPCA staff about the outcome of their effort. MPCA project staff appreciates their commitment and willingness more than can be expressed. Their participation reflects a willingness to consider innovation and validates the notion that, within carefully considered regulatory authority, remediation sites present an opportunity for a holistic environmental approach. The MPCA project staff is grateful for their participation and ongoing support.
