I oppose the complete set of proposed amendments to MN State Water Quality Rules establishing TALU and modifying Class 2 waters, and request a public hearing.

Rather than dumbing down the limits, which in the long run cause numerous pollution related problems, we should be implementing an ounce of prevention. This type of action does right by the environment today and saves future expenses related clean-up and restoration. We have the capacity to prevent a future problem. Do the right thing.

Furthermore, I endorse the need for minimum width riparian buffer zones along the banks of water bodies, particularly between agricultural/cultivated lands and the water, to help prevent the influx of chemical and particulate contaminants to the water, which contaminants can damage habitat, particularly relating to reproduction at all levels of the aqueous community, locally and downstream, for example by suffocating eggs during incubation or damaging the stream bed to render it unsuitable to egg laying and sustaining the population.

Where practical, I also endorse restricted access of grazing animals to streams and rivers, where heavy foot traffic can lead to bank damage, encouraging erosion, and contamination of the water by soil, which can damage habitat, particularly relating to reproduction at all levels of the aqueous community, locally and downstream, for example by suffocating eggs during incubation or damaging the stream bed to render it unsuitable to egg laying and sustaining the population.
